MINOR MENTION.

Reiter, the tailer, for winter goods. The Merkel-Fuller concert to night.

Cutters are selling fast. A few swell body cutters left. Cheap. Buy one of Shugart, Waite & Wies. The Des Moines Register says of Miss Puller, "She is an Iowa girl, and is the equal of any of the renowned singers." Hear her to night.

Robert Rain's little son, aged 8 years, while playing about home yesterday meraing, fell, suffering a compound frac-tare of one of his arms above the elbow.

Young man, you can buy a fancy rig for what a five hour drive with a livery team will cost you—Shugart, Waite & Wies are selling cutters to everybody at wholesale prices.

Parties desiring first-class cutters-swell bodies or Portlands, one, two or three seated - will save money by waiting till to-morrow, when Keeline & Felt will receive a car load of the finest cutters seen here this year.

The police have arrested a fellow named Shipman, who has a peg leg. He was energetically breaking up the peace when nabbed. Andy Davy was also arrested for disturbing the peace. From the appearance of Andy's face and head the appearance of Andy's face and head it seemed that somebody else had been disturbing his peace still more. The saloon men evidently prefer to pay $25 a month in each promptly, than to have their choice of paying $50 in each or city warrants later in the month. A large number have already paid the $.5 cash for December, and others are com-ing in, so that nearly all will be paid up before the penalty goes into effect.

There was a lively racket at the skat-ing rink Wednesday night. The officers had a struggle in arresting John Arnold, who seemed to be the chief boisterer. Officer O'Brien had to throw him down into the coal box, and during the contest Arnold tried to make a lunch of O'Brien's ear. He was finally dragged to jail, and yesterday was fined $15 and Abe Kahn's friends backed him in a race of 75 yards, for $120, Friday last, against a man who claims to be named Smith, and to hail from near Massena, The race was run on Lecust street, and Smith came in an easy winner. Abe's backers are now inclined to the belief that "Smith" is a professional, and that they were a perfect school of suckers.— [Cass County Democrat.

To-night an opportunity will be given at the opera house of hearing the Merkel sisters, who are such favorite singers here and in whom this city takes so much pride. Miss Fuller is an artist, and has aiready won high praise east and west. Mr. Treynor, who has one of the best tenor voices in this part of the country, and Mr France, a favorite Omaha basso, will also assist With such talent it must be a feast of good music

A tailor, who has been at work in Casaoy & Hardin's tailoring establishment, met with an accident about a week ago, falling down stairs, and injurying his head. Since then he has been acting rather strangely, symptoms of insanity developing, and yesterday morning he was seeming so wild, that Marshal Guanella went to the shop, and took him in custody, the other men seeming afraid of him. He was lodged in the county

County Surveyor Tostevin has returned from Fremont county, where he has been making surveys in regard to some disputed lines in Walnut township. He has been making the surveys by order of court, to get at the facts in a case pend-ing there. The contest between the plaintiffs and defendants is in regard to plaintils and defendants is in regard to the legality of the present lines of occu-pation. If the position taken by the plaintiffs is sustained, there will be a charge of the lines of occupation. If the defendants are sustained the present lines will remain as now. If the plain-tiffs' position is sustained there will be necessitated an entire change of the lines, and not only will the two sections now in question be affected, but the larger part of the entire township will be also affected. For this reason the case is being watched eagerly by many who are not directly concerned in it.

An Advertising Test.

An Advertising Test.

J. J. Bliss is convinced that it pays to advertise. He lost a dog the other day and put a notice in the Nonpareil "want" column offering a suitable reward for the return of his canine. The papers had not been from the press an hour until an army of boys and men took up the march for his store with strange dogs which they wanted to exclange for the promised reward.—[Nonpareil.

The joke is on the old lady this time. The advertisement in the Nonpareil appeared for several days and didn't produce a response. Bliss then put a notice in the Bee Wednesday morning, and within an hour his dog was brought back and the rush commenced.

THE DAILY BEE. BIG GAP IN THE RECORDS.

A Look at the Old Books in the County Surveyor's Office.

HUNTING DOWN A BURGLAR.

Opening of the District Court-Accident to an Attorney-The Street Car Squabble-To-Night's

A Gap in the Records.

The BER man yesterday came across a act which astonished him greatly, and will probably astonish no less many of our readers. The records of the county surveyor's office show that none of the surveys made during the past ten years have been recorded. There is one survey recorded in December, 1875, and then there is a long skip from that date to April, 1884, when the present county surveyor began to record them. The neglect of making these records does not fall necessarily on those who have held the office of county surveyor. It is more a neglect of the people. The law does not compel a man who has a survey made to put it on record. It does not require the surveyor to put it on record. When the county surveyor makes a survey for a citizen, the citizen may require the surveyor to make a record of it and give him a certified copy of it, but for this the citizen must pay the surveyor, the cost being about $3. Nearly every one getting such a survey made looks to the saving of this small amount, and hence no record is made.

The value of having such a record is often great to the private citizen. It enables him to place his hand readily on the facts of any survey made by the official of any piece of ground in which he may have an interest. In view of frequent litigations and disputes, such a record is often most important. Such a record often saves a resurvey, and the accompanying expense. The record is also valuable to whoever holds the office of surveyor. In whatever view may be taken of the matter, it seems alike im-portant to the private citizen and to the public that such a record should be made. As the present law does not compel any such record a move is on foot to secure a change of the law at this session of the legislature. It is proposed to make the matter compulsory, and to tax up the cost of making a record of a survey to the property benefitted, just as street filling in the city is charged up to adja-cent property. The same lack of record is said to exist in many other counties of the state to a greater or less degree. Hence some state action will doubtless Sleighing East and West.

"What a difference there is between the west and east about cutters," remarked an observing citizen to the BEE man. "Many of these things that go around the streets on runners would be laughed at in the east. There they think as much of having a good cutter, or sleigh, as they are called there, as they do of having a fine buggy."

"Are there not a good many fair cut-

"Fair entters? There aren't more than two or three good cutters in the city-That is, what I call really good cutters, cutters such as they would call good for anything in the east. I mean by a good cutter, one that costs from $125 up. John Bennett, the county treasurer, has a fine cutter, and Bray, the liveryman has, a pretty good one. The others which I have seen are cheap affairs. Of course they answer the purpose, but they are cheaply made. They are painted up cheap, and are not imished up real fine. In the cast a man does not think a cutter amounts to much unless it costs him at least $100, and more. Here most of the entters cost from $.0 to $30."

"They're just as good for what is wanted here, aren't they?" "Yes, I suppose so. These cutters which are sold so cheap do first rate. They look well, and then there is not so much sleighing here as in many places in the east. Perhaps a man does not get many chances during a whole winter to use one. The liverymen only have a short time each season in which to let them out, and they can get just as much for a cheap cutter as for a high priced one. They would be foolish to invest in costly cutters. Private citizens do not care to to have any better cutter than what the liveries turn out, and so it goes. Yes, cheap cutters do just as well here but to an eastern man it seems a little strange. These cheap cutters are made out of good material, and are painted up so as to look nice, but when it comes down to little points of fine finish they are way off. Why some of the eastern cutters cost more just for the upholstery than several such cutters would cost as are used here. Folks are just as happy, though, and a young fellow can have just as much fun with his girl, and an old fellow will live just as long."

At a recent meeting of the city council a request was presented by the street car company for permi ssion to move its turn table from in front of the Ogden house to a point on Broadway near its new barn by the dummy depot. This request was the occasion of a storm against the company, the council not only refusing to grant the request, but half of the council being determined to revoke the charter. It was declared that if the company tried to move the turntable without permission war would be declared, and if the city attorney could get no injunction then the mayor and his police force would guard the spot.

Yesterday the BEE man asked Mr.
Marshall, who has charge of the line here, what was going to be done about it.
"I don't know any more about it than

"I don't know any more about it than you do. All I can do is to wait for orders. I sent the account of the conneil's attorn over to the company and have heard nothing from it."

"What do you think of it."

"Why, it looks sort of queer to me. When that turntable was put in there was a howl about it, and there has every now and then been a howl raised that it had no business being there at all. When the street was paved and the turntable had to be taken up and put back again, folks were talking about stopping the company from having any turntable there. Now the company don't want it there and the city says it shan't be moved. It seems to me a good deal like moved. It seems to me a good deal like the fellow who was going home drunk one night and talking to himself about his wife. He said if that woman was sitting up waiting for him he would thrash her. Then he said that if that woman had gone to bed he would lick her. Finally he concluded he would lick her anyway. It seems as if the council was bound to annoy the company anyway."

Capturing a Burglar. The police think they have the fellow who went through the safes at Tholl & Kracht's store and McDaneld's office Tuesday night. In the former place the safe was left unlocked, so that there was no necessity for blowing it open. At McDaneld's the safe was cracked and $60 taken. Following up the slight clues in their possession the officers have arrested a man, whose name is given as John O'Burns. It seems that he purchased at Amy's hardware store a diamond pointed and at Larsen's bought some pow-He was overheard to make some remark about putting something in the old foundry building, and search being made there, the cash box from McDan-eld's safe was discovered. It seems that the police have got the man to rights, it should prove that they have ferreted out the right party they will deserve a special credit mark. C. B. A Fat Take.

C. M. Harle, the attorney, yesterday met with a painful accident. At noon, while some meat was cooking in the kitchen, the fat got on fire, and in trying to end the smudge and put out the blaze, he thoughtlessly threw some water on it. Cold water and hot fat did not take kindly to each other, as Mr. Harle realized when he emerged from the smoke with both hands burned, his face scorched slightly and his hair and whiskers singed.
This explains why he appears in court with both hands bandaged and a close clip to his eyebrows and moustache.
